DOWLING MILL A BUSY PLACE.

Improvements and Extensions Are Continually Being Made.

Since the advent of the resawing machine at the Dowling mill, which saves much work of the circular saw, lumber is turned out much faster than formerly. To keep the mill supplied with logs at all times, additional tracks have been built through the timber lands and another locomotive added, so that there are now three of these engines. More men and teams for getting out and loading the logs have also been added, and to accommodate the former, eight new camp houses have been built. These are light, and can be "toted" to and from the cars by a dozen husky darkies.

Every square foot of the mill is now utilized and it resembles a huge beehive. But the arrangements are such that immense quantities of lumber are turned out daily without any hitch or confusion.—Stark Telegraph.

SCORCHING HEAT.

Dallas, Texas, Recorded 114 Degrees—Several Deaths.

Memphis, Tenn., Aug. 18.—Three deaths, two at Little Rock and the other at Jackson, Miss., were caused today by the intense heat wave which continues to hold this section of the south in its grasp.

At Jackson, a record breaking mark of 105 degrees was established; at Little Rock, the mercury climbed to 101; at Natchez, Miss., it soared to 105; at Shreveport, La., a mark of 110 degrees was recorded. Fort Worth, Tex., experienced no relief and the mercury soared to the 113 mark; at Sherman, 107 degrees was registered, and the same mark at Palestine set a record for the last twenty-five years. All records were broken at Dallas, when 114 degrees was reached in mid-afternoon.
